

MECHANICAL MAGNETIC TIMER

INSTRUCTION MANUAL

Ever feel like five minutes disappears... or stretches forever?

You set a timer in the kitchen, turn back to what you're doing, and suddenly you're either checking the clock every 30 seconds or completely forgetting about it.

This magnetic kitchen countdown timer changes that. As the red section slowly disappears, you can see time passing at a glance while you cook, bake, or prep. No hovering. No guessing. Just a clear visual reminder sitting right there on the fridge or bench.

Because the countdown is visible, not just audible, it becomes more than a cooking tool. It works just as well for homework blocks, short cleaning sprints, gaming limits, or "call them back in ten minutes."

Everyone can see the same countdown, which makes expectations clearer and transitions smoother.

For people who experience time blindness or benefit from visual structure, seeing time move can reduce stress and support independence. Instead of being told how much time is left, they can see it.

Mechanical and battery-free, you simply twist to set your time and let it run. Solid, simple, and ready to use whenever you need it.

Great for:

- Cooking, baking, and everyday meal prep reminders
- Setting a reminder to call someone back or check in on something
- Short cleaning bursts and "let's see what we can get done before the timer finishes" challenges
- Managing gaming sessions or device time
- Homework, study blocks, or reading time
- Fair turn-taking where everyone can see the same countdown
- Helping children understand how much time is left for a task or transition
- Smoother pack-up times, leaving the house, or bedtime routines
- Clear reset breaks with visible, consistent boundaries
- Focus blocks for adults who benefit from structured work sessions
- Individuals who experience time blindness or process time differently
- Neurodivergent people, including ADHD and autistic individuals, who benefit from visual structure
- Anyone who finds predictability and clear visual cues supportive for regulation and independence
